Regions

The regions form lets you manage your regions within defined client types to configure parameters specific for the region (for example a province, or a management region). The parameters can be defined in the Parameters form within the Design fase, under the Regions section.